

BEAUTY ED'S FAVE

To me, leaving the house without lip balm is like leaving the house without underwear! My bag's weighed down with more than a few tubes, as I need a different texture and colour for every occasion. The latest one to make the cut is Ere Perez's Lip Bar. Loaded with vitamin E and rosehip oil, it's got plenty of shine and a little colour – just the way I like it.

Blake Lively (far left) and Leighton Meester (left) are the latest twenty-something It girls to play teens on-screen. What's their youthful secret? Gossip Girl's make-up artist Any Johnston reveals she chooses make-up that 'takes away the shine without looking too cakey and heavy'. Take a leaf out of their books and give your look a youthful skew.

- Young faces only need a tinted moisturiser (1) to even out skin tone.
- Going without mascara is the easiest fresh-faced trick in the book. Can't go without? Make it a clear one (2).
- Flushed cheeks are a must but the key is to look like the glow comes from within – so skip the powdered blush and opt for a translucent cheek stain (3).

According to Christina DeLuiso, founder of celeb cult brand DuWop, good skin can come cheap – plain old sugar is the best body exfoliant on the market. 'I keep a jar next to my bathtub and it leaves my skin glowing.' Sweet as!

Which celebrities' hair have you done?

I've done loads of people, from Avril Lavigne to The Rolling Stones, from Dido to Jordan and all the kids. And I've done the Beckhams.

Are any of them divas?

I wouldn't stand it if they were. I'd just kick them out of the salon! I'm too long in the tooth, you know what I mean.

What's the hottest celeb hair trend right now?

Agyness Deyn is brilliant! That Agy cut – it's in. Everyone wants it. Oh, and the back comb – all the kids are wearing it. You know that Russell Brand kind of vibe – big and messy.

What's your top haircare tip?

Get the best hairdresser you can. You pay peanuts, you get monkeys. I think you're better off going to a good hairdresser twice a year and paying a little bit extra. So go less, but pay more.

What's the perfect handbag product to revive dull hair?

It would have to be Redken Wool Shake because it definitely gives the hair a bit of life. It's a bit of a wake-up spray – a versatile product.
